About the Organizer

The Department of Genealogy and Comparative Religion & Philosophy came into existence in 1991 with the blessings of Acharya Shri Tulsiji, the first Spiritual Mentor of Jain Vishva Bharati Institute Ladnun. The working of the Department is very much influenced by the main objective and value ethos of the institute. The main objective of the institute is to work for the oriental studies especially for the higher studies and research in the field of Jainism and Value Education. The department has accomplished its goal by connecting students and scholars interested in Jain studies from all over the world. It is also developing Jain studies in collaboration of Western Universities like Florida International University, USA, Gent University, Belgium, UK etc. Recently, with the blessings of Acharya Mahashraman, the Present Spiritual Mentor of JVBI, by establishing a research wing named Bhagawan Mahavira International Research Center the department is focusing on scientific research and innovative social studies in Jainism. The whole exercise is to impart and create a new knowledge for peaceful, progressive, harmonious world-order and sustainable development.
